COSMETORIUM celebrates its 3rd edition this year marked by the growth of the exhibition area within the Palau de Congressos de Barcelona. We will have more companies participating in the sector to offer you innovation in the cosmetics industry and open up infinite possibilities for business and networking during the days of the event.

In parallel, our range of activities also grows. To complete the program of scientific conferences and Techfocus that we have prepared, there are several interactive workshops with demonstrations that will cover topics of laboratory and lab services. We will again have the participation of the Sociedade Portuguesa de Ciências Cosméticas (SPCC), which organize their own session of scientific conferences under the title "Portuguese natural resources for innovative cosmetics".

And for exhibitors with a competitive spirit, the call for the second edition of the Cosmetorium Awards is open, which this year will reward innovation in formulation. Visitors will be able to see the ten finalist products displayed in an area dedicated to them within the hall. We hope to see, learn, comment and work together in this new edition, of which we are sure that we will leave with the satisfaction of having enjoyed two full days of ideas, problem solving and cosmetic science.

President of the Sociedad Española de Químicos Cosméticos
